Survey to strengthen the integration of work of the Child Division with that of the Department focused on Adults

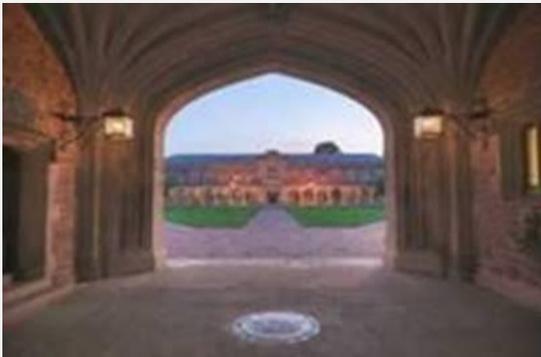

Submit by March 28

On behalf of Drs. Constantino and Rogers:

As discussions across recent faculty forums have highlighted, we have several opportunities to strengthen the integration of work of the Child Division with that of the Department focused on adults. Many initiatives have already begun and highlighted the success when this integration occurs (DEI initiatives, Perinatal Behavioral Health Service, Early onset psychosis, etc.) For this reason, we are proposing a series of strategic planning meetings that would focus on several key areas, each spanning the domains of research, clinical care, education, and department organization including:

1. Provision of two-generation psychiatric care
2. Psychiatric interventions for Transitional age patients (e.g. substance use, transgender care, autism and developmental disabilities)
3. Education of trainees and medical students
4. Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion work
5. Collaborative Research Initiatives

If you are interested in participating in these strategic planning meetings, please indicate your specific interest and contact information for one or more of the 5 areas above on this brief, 30-second survey here.

CRE2-SHC Partnership More Equity, Or Less? Race and the Future of Genomics

April 8, 2022, 1:00 pm - 2:45 pm

Genomics is yielding transformative insights into the genetic makeup of diseases and the impact of environmental factors on human health. At the same time, the field of genomics has powerful implications for health equity, meanings of race and ethnicity, and the intersections between science and the values we ascribe to social constructions. This spring's virtual panel on Race and the Future of Genomics addresses these and other developments—an asks how scientists, medical practitioners, and the public can ensure more equitable outcomes in the future.

This virtual event will be moderated by Vence L. Bonham, Jr. (Acting Deputy Director, National Human Genome Research Institute)

Panelists include:

- Brett Maricque (McDonnell Genome Institute, Washington University in St. Louis)
- Alicia R. Martin (Broad Institute; Harvard Medical School; Massachusetts General Hospital)
- Santiago Molina (Mellon Postdoctoral Fellow, Science in Human Culture, Northwestern University)
- Ann Morning (New York University, Sociology)
- Peter Wade (University of Manchester, Social Anthropology)

Center for the Study of Race, Ethnicity & Equity

CRE² brings the research force of Washington University to study how race and ethnicity are integral to the most complex and challenging issues of our time. We believe in field-defining research, innovative learning, and strategic engagement that will transform scholarship, policy, and clinical interventions where race and ethnicity are at the center.

Healing Ourselves: Uncovering Implicit Bias Through Mindfulness

Apr 01, 2022
